As a cousin of his, we were close as kids. He was always such a good person. I always remember him looking in the mirror, combing his hair, that comb always in his back pocket. The memories from our cottage of our zip line, treehouse, tractor rides, horseback riding, blood suckers while walking down the pine river into town and investigating everything. And the time he found a dead pine snake, held it up it was as long as he was. And our grandpa, his best friend, that broke his heart when he passed away far too soon. He is now with him and at peace. We love you curt.
