Betty Ann Bahlke was born on January 6th, 1930, in Milwaukee, WI. Her Father was a Milwaukee police officer who died on duty when Betty was three. Her Mother passed when she was nine. Betty was later remarried to Bill Pollack and quickly adapted to life on the farm with the Pollacks. Both husbands preceded her in death.

Betty loved to read and spread that love to countless individuals she positively impacted through the years. She loved children, knitting, singing, dancing the polka, and likely organizing a game of sheephead with some old friends.

My first visit to Wisconsin many years ago Betty was one of a handful of people that I met. She was full of goodness, hospitality and love. And she gave it away freely. When thinking of Wisconsin, I think of Betty.
