“ Ray and I shared many memories ranging from first grade into the 1960s. We hadn't seen each other much once he & Midge we married, except for a few days in Danville. Yet we always managed to stay in touch and, like good friends everywhere, we took up where we had left off. I can say many words about Ray and a few of them are: honest, reliable, a barrel of laughs wherever friends met to quaff a few brews and tell of each other's family's progress. One memory in particular: no bag of potatochips was safe at Ray's table. (Can any family members vouch for that?) One more thought: No Midge I did not sabotage the A/C at the Leilani! I am only one week younger than Ray so I assume that I too will be seeing him soon. I especially wish to run through lush fields of grass with him just to see the joy on his face when he does! We are BFF! His example is a wonderful one for younger members of his family. Mine, too!

“ I have nothing but wonderful memories of my Uncle Ray. He always went out of his way to make me (and my siblings) feel special. I felt that he was someone worth emulating and patterning my life after. He was an amazing father to his kids and a husband without equal. I will miss him greatly.

“ I will always be grateful that Ray used his influence to land an accounting job for Dave at Blue Cross and using his influence to get me a job while in college working as a ward clerk in emergency at Sacred Heart in Eau Claire. Ray, I hope now you can spend more time fishing for walleyes.

“ So glad I got to talk with Ray last year and the people who knew Ray at St. Elizabeth Hospital have only good things to say about working with him. I will always treasure my memories of him as my boss.
